

This technical drawing illustrates the cross-section of a reinforced concrete slab, detailing the reinforcement layout and structural dimensions. The drawing is oriented vertically, with the slab's width (6000 mm) and height (2830 mm) indicated. The elevation markers on the left side are +6.050, +3.220, -0.100, and -0.600. The reinforcement is shown in blue, with various bars labeled with numbers (1, 2, 5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 22) and their respective diameters (p.200). The drawing also shows the distribution of reinforcement bars along the length of the slab, with dimensions of 1050, 900, 1000, and 1200 mm. The reinforcement is anchored into the supporting structure, with dimensions of 470 mm and 900 mm shown for the anchorage length. The drawing is a detailed technical representation of a reinforced concrete slab cross-section, showing the reinforcement layout and structural dimensions.

Technical drawing of a vertical reinforcement cage for a column. The drawing shows a cross-section of the column with reinforcement bars (p.600 and p.200) and dimensions. Key dimensions include: total height 7.00m, section height 2.83m, section width 0.47m, and section length 2.85m. Reinforcement bars are labeled with diameters (p.600, p.200) and quantities (19, 6). A circular detail view shows the reinforcement cage at the top of the column.

Technical drawing of a vertical structural element (likely a chimney or shaft) showing elevation and dimensions. The drawing includes a cross-section at the top and bottom, and a side elevation view. Key dimensions include: total height 2830, section height 470, section width 650, and base width 180. Elevation markers include +6.050, +3.220, -0.100, and -0.600. A section line is labeled «Ա». A note p.600 շախմ. is present.
